To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that the above API Couplings are manufactured from Grade B seamless material that is in full compliance with the latest ASME SA-106/ASTM A106 Specifications. This material also meets all of the requirements of the ASME SA53/ASTM A53 and API 5L Specifications.

These couplings are rated at 300 psi and the marking will include the Beck Trademark  for identification purposes.

The API Couplings are generally used to join extra heavy or double extra heavy pipe. Typical applications would be oil and gas transmission lines, irrigation systems, airlines, etc. where nominal working pressures are in the area of up to 300 psi.

Sincerely,

Dale E. Thompson
